VOL. XIV.

PHILLIPS ACADEMY, ANDOVER, MASS., MAY 25, 1892.

NO. 62.

Communication.

Editors of The Philippiam:

Last year the game between the Glee Club and the PHILIPPIAN board was one of the most interesting the school and class teams played. I would suggest that for this year a league be formed embracing the Glee, Banjo and Mandolin Clubs together with the PHILIPPIAN and Mirror boards, also, that the teams shall play without previous practice, and shall not be organized till the first game be played, thus affording as much sport as possible.

The games could be arranged after the Exeter game. — BASE BALL.

Schedule and Rules of Street and House Teams.

The rules are the same as last year, i.e.:

I. (a) All street and house nines, as such, shall in no case go beyond previously established limits to secure players.

(b) A player shall not play on more than one nine. Having played one championship game he shall be considered as belonging to that nine for which he has previously played.

(c) No man who has played on the first nine this term shall be allowed to play on any street or house nine.

II. The umpires, of which there shall be two, shall be chosen by the managers and captains of the opposing teams from those men having no connection whatever with either street or house that is to play.

III. Each game shall be played with a new ball for which each nine shall pay half the winner to keep the ball.

IV. The nine having the highest percentage after all games have been played shall be considered champions. In case of a tie the same shall be played off as soon as possible.

V. All games are to be played under the National League Rules.

Following is the schedule:

Yale vs. Princeton.

The first championship game between Yale and Princeton was won by the former on Monday in New Haven, by a score of 1 to 0. Yale's run was made in the fifth inning by Bliss who received a base on balls and was advanced to second by an error by Princeton's short stop. A base hit by Murphy placed him on third, and he was forced home as Bowers went to first on four balls. Yale played a perfect fielding game, but with the exception of the fifth inning, Young was superior to Bowers in the box. On the Yale nine were Case, P.A. '90, left field; Bliss, ex-P.S. '91, right field; Rustin, P.S. '91, third base.

College Vices.

"Almost every year there comes an outbreak of public indignation against the immorality which is supposed to have its perpetual home in our colleges. One college is denounced this year, another the next.

Certain colleges may be more frequent objects of suspicion, but none escape altogether. Each is an offender in turn. During these seasons of virtue the public always appears as the righteous party, the college as the guilty. In my judgment this is unjust."

So says Prof. G. H. Palmer of Harvard University in an article on college vices and following it up with his reasons he says, that in his experience, both as business man and as a professor he has observed that college men will, on an average, rank somewhat higher in character than the busy people in the outside world. Of course many vices exist and his two principal reasons are that the men are spoiled before, and that they come to college with the idea that tomfoolery is expected. In regard to the former his words are:

"It is hardly necessary to point out that many young men are spoiled before they come to college and are sent there for the purpose of ridding their parents of further care. But could parents be made more sensible, what obstacles would be removed from the pall of colleges." As to the second reason he says:

"In this country from the very beginning of educational institutions people have regarded the period of study as the season when pranks are excusable. The young man who has spent his day in a store does not think of building a bonfire when he goes home at night; the boy who has been in a recitation room does. The force of popular tradition is on him. He would not in the eyes of the world be a genuine collegian if he did not screw up his tutor, break a window, blow up the pump, disturb a lecture, or appear in the street in fantastic clothing."

He gives some other minor reasons one being that a boy is led to believe even by people outside that dishonesty in college is not really dishonest but really a matter of necessary occurrence. His remedy is:

"Let parents and the public dismiss from their minds all thought of college conduct as different from ordinary conduct; let them show as little indulgence to pranks, duplicity and wild oats when exhibited by the student as by the clerk; let them exact from both a similar soberness, wit, intelligence and grace; and college teachers will find their work of building up solid characters among their pupils greatly simplified."

Intercollegiate Shooting Match.

The driving rain did not stop the shooting match between the Yale, Princeton and Harvard gun clubs, which was held at New Haven on Saturday. Each of the five members of each team shot at thirty clay pigeons at unknown angles.

During the first part of the match Harvard led in the score and held the lead until near the close.

At the end of the match, Mr. Woods, Yale Sheffield, announced the score, Yale 104; Princeton 104; Harvard 98. In the match to decide the tie, Princeton won, 12 to 11.

As the men were leaving, an error of the scorer was found, whereby one of Yale's men was credited with 22 birds, instead of 23.

Yale then claimed the match, but Princeton protested. Princeton would listen to nothing but an absolute victory.

Yale will consult the best sporting authority on the subject and appeal to the popular mind as to whether she is entitled to 105 points and the match instead of 104 points and defeat.

The individual scores of the Harvard team were Lawton 14, Sargent 18, Pike 22, Gould 22, Mackay 22. Lawton's poor score is somewhat excusable as he broke his gun in the beginning of the match.—Ex.

A Gift to Columbia College.

The library of the defunct Emanuel Theological Seminary has just been presented to Columbia College through the efforts of Profs. E. R. A. Seligman and Richard Gottheil of the Faculty of the College. The Seminary, which was founded soon after the war, accumulated a large and valuable library, including many rare theological manuscripts and books. In 1868 the Board of Trustees supplemented this by the purchase of a well-stocked theological library in Amsterdam. This entire library has of late years been stored in the Temple Emanu-El building, corner of Forty-third Street and Fifth Avenue, New York. The Jewish Theological Seminary of New York, the Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati, and Columbia College have all tried to obtain possession of it. Finally the matter was left to a committee of the members of Temple Emanu-El, and on their report, the library, with the exception of duplicates, will be given to Columbia.

The Literary Monthly.

The first number of the Phillips Andover Mirror has just been issued. The Mirror is a monthly magazine, modeled after the Harvard Monthly in its makeup, and well printed. The essays are excellent and the short stories modeled better than most of those that appear in college periodicals. The departments are well edited and the title given to that of alumni notes, "Leaves from Phillips' Ivy," is especially tasteful. It seems a trifle strange to find a column of "grinds" in a literary magazine; this is probably to be accounted for, however, by the fact that the magazine is an outgrowth of the old Philo Mirror, which served the purposes of an annual—Williams Weekly.

The king of Siam will send six youths to Pennsylvania to be educated, all to become physicians. They are to be chosen from the poorer classes, and the expense of their tuition, about $5,000 a year each, is to be borne by the Siamese government.—Ex.

Communications may be addressed to the Phillipian, Andover, Mass., or dropped in the Phillipian box placed in the main hall of the Academy building.

PHILLIPIAN board meetings are held Wednesday and Saturday noons.

Entered as second-class matter at the Andover Post Office.

THE ANDOVER-PRESS, PRINTERS.

We wish to call the attention of the managers of the musical clubs and literary boards to the communication signed "Base-Ball." There is no doubt that a series of games conducted according to the suggestion of the writer would be interesting to the school and be productive of much amusement. We would, therefore, suggest that the persons who should take the necessary steps towards forming such a series of games, meet at once and take some action regarding the proposition.

The annual spring tournament takes place this afternoon at the running track. The entries are unusually large, and a very exciting tournament is expected. To bring out the class-rivalry and to make the events more interesting, it is hoped that the classes will keep together and cheer for their own men. The majority of the contestants have worked hard and trained faithfully, and deserve the hearty support of their various classes. The weather being pleasant there will probably be a large number of ladies present, and we hope that every courtesy will be shown them.

Mott Haven Entries.

Entries for the intercollegiate games to be held at Manhattan Field on May 28 have been received from Amherst, Cornell, Harvard, College City of New York, Princeton, Rutgers, Stevens, Swarthmore, University of Penn., Fordham, New York University, Georgetown University, Yale, Williams, Columbia, and Lafayette.

The four colleges which have made the greatest number of entries are Yale, with 146; Princeton with 109; Harvard, with 97; and Columbia with 86. Harvard will be best represented by Hawes, in the sprints; Wright, in the quarter-mile; Fearing, in the hurdles and high jump; Bloss, in the broad jump; and Davis, in the two-mile bicycle race.

Yale's best men are Swayne, in the sprints; Wright, in the half-mile and Ellsworth, in the mile run; Lyman, in the hurdles; Stillman, in the shot and hammer; and Cartwright, in the pole vault.

Princeton will be well represented, especially in the track events, by Vredenburgh and Swain in the sprints; Roddy, in the quarter; Turner and Woodbridge in the half and mile runs; Ramsdell in the broad and Sill in the high jump; and Borcherling and Ottley in the mile walk.

Columbia's best men are Harding, in the sprints and hurdles; Hinman in the shot and hammer; Collis, in the mile walk; and Hall and Knapp in the two-mile bicycle race.—Ex.

Summer Instruction.

The Students' Club of Mt. Desert, Seal Harbor, Me., will begin its fourth season Thursday, July 7, 1892, and will close Wednesday, September 14, in time for college entrance examinations. The staff of instructors will consist of four college graduates, all experienced teachers. The object of the club is to prepare students for the college entrance examinations, and to assist any who have fallen behind in their studies. Every encouragement will be given for earnest effort on the part of the students.

Expenses, including tuition, will amount to $350; for tuition alone $200. For particulars, Mr. P. L. Horne, H.U. '92, should be consulted.
